NEW DEPOT APPEARS CERTAIN

Officials Were Here Last Week Looking Over Ground for the New Site

VILLAGE DEMANDS ACTION

Negotiations That Have Been Going on for Some Time are Expected to Materialize Late This Season

In the month of August of last year the village board of the village of Antioch passed an ordinance providing for the construction, operation and maintenance of gates at the intersection of streets and railway crossings in the village of Antioch.

As soon as the railroad company became acquainted with the fact, they at once began the talk of erecting a new depot and making needed changes in its surroundings rather than comply with the conditions of the ordinance and there to all appearance the matter was dropped, and no move was made to enforce the ordinance.

This spring, however, President Webb has been devoting considerable time to the subject and has kept in close touch with the officials of the Soo Line company, who have at various times used strong influence to have this ordinance revoked. This Mr. Webb has refused to do, only on condition that the new depot is built and a reasonably safe crossing maintained, at the same time stating that if something tangible is not apparent before the expiration of ninety days that the ordinance will then be enforced to the letter.

As a result of the stand he has taken, the matter has been under serious discussion among the railroad officials and last week F. W. Urbahn, assistant superintendent of the Soo Line paid Mr. Webb a visit, stating that the company would comply with the request for a new depot, probably locating it near the present site of the Tiffany & Felter coal sheds.

When interviewed Mr. Webb stated that he is confident that the new depot will materialize this summer, although it may be late in the season, and says that his assertion is not only based upon his talk with Superintendent Urbahn alone, but also upon correspondence, plans, specifications, etc., which he has been privileged to look over on his numerous visits to the company's office.

HAND CRUSHED IN AN ICE CREAM FREEZER

Mr. C. Calugi was the victim of a very serious accident Saturday afternoon at about five o'clock. While sprinkling salt around the top of the ice cream freezer he in some way got his right hand into the cogs of the machine. Exerting almost superhuman strength he wrenched himself free from the revolving wheels, but not until his hand had been badly injured. His cries soon brought aid, but the accident occurring at a time when all the doctors were out of town, it was some little time before a physician could be found to dress the wound. After some delay a physician was located and he made the injured man as comfortable as possible and assisted him to his home.

So severely was the member crushed that it was necessary to amputate the first two fingers, and this was done as soon as assistance could be procured. At present he is getting along nicely and has hopes of a speedy recovery.

Skyscraping Nerve.

"Way up in the air, at skyscraping construction work, on a single steel beam spanning space among the clouds like an aeroplane, a workman lost his balance or made a miscalculation as high up he was that watchers could not make out which—and tottered, wavering to make your stomachs fall into your boots while your heart thumped the top of your skull. Then he got a grip on himself, recovered his poise, apparently looked down for a moment on the army of wee human mites so far below on earth—and went about his work again. Good skyscraping nerve. Wonder did he tell the wife and kiddies when he got home to supper? No, not with that nerve."

MARRIED AT WOODSTOCK

Oliver Cubbon and Eva Richardson of English Prairie Married Last Week

A wedding event, the news of which came as a surprise both to the Richmond and Antioch friends of the bride and groom, took place at Woodstock last Thursday morning when Miss Eva B. Richardson was united in marriage to Oliver R. Cubbon of this village. The ceremony occurred at the M. E. parsonage, Rev. Truman R. Greene being the officiating clergyman.

Following the wedding ceremony the young couple returned to the home of the bride's parents on English Prairie, where a wedding dinner was served, and later departed on a trip to Chicago where they enjoyed a brief visit before returning to this village where a new home on Lake street was awaiting their coming.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Richardson of English Prairie, is well and favorably known in that community, where all her life has been passed, and also in this village where she has often visited. She is an accomplished young lady and possesses those traits of character which have won for her the esteem of all her acquaintances and many are the friends who will be happy to extend congratulations and best wishes.

The groom, the eldest son of Mrs. R. B. Cubbon, is a well-known young man who enjoys the respect of Antioch citizens in general. All who know him recognize him as a young man of sterling worth and likeable qualities and in every way deserving of the worthy young lady he has won for a life companion.

HOME FOR PRESIDENTS

Mrs. Scott Durand and Chamber of Commerce Plan Summer Home

A summer home for the president, and President William Howard Taft especially, but for every president who may come to follow in his footsteps at the national white house at Washington is the latest plan broached for Lake county. The plan is given assurance by the fact that the Chicago Chamber of Commerce may take up the work of gaining for Lake county a permanent summer home for the nation's chief executive.

When the government first decided that Uncle Sam's Navy needed some place where would be seamen could be taught the rudiments of sea-faring life this association of progressive business men of Chicago determined to locate it at some place not far distant from Chicago.

Accordingly they purchased the tract of land at North Chicago, and donated it to the government for the new $3,500,000 plant now known as the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. The government refuses at all times to purchase land for purposes of this sort, but when the land was offered to the government, Congress at once seized the chance.

The new plan is to purchase from S. E. Gross, the land adjoining the naval station, the land being known as the Gross acreage. This tract of land contains about 240 acres. Upon this tract of land the Chamber of Commerce, will if they take up the plan, erect a fine summer home for all presidents to come, and in this home, it is expected that the president will spend at least a part of the summer overseeing the work at the naval training station.

The land in question is owned by S. E. Gross, the man who claims to have written the play, Sympathy de Bergerac, and also to have furnished the inspiration for the novelty play Chances. Gross at present, it is said, is in a private sanitarium, for his health, but it is claimed that there will be no trouble in purchasing the land, if the Chamber of Commerce takes up with the proposition.

Visiting Cards for Dogs.

A novelty in Paris is the lapdog visiting cards. "Poms" and pugs which go visiting with their mistresses in fashionable circles in Paris are to have their own tiny pasteboards tucked away in little pockets of their outdoor coats. Such dogs have two sets of cards, which are left on other dogs at the houses where they are calling with their mistresses. One card gives the dog's real name and its race, while the other records its pet name joined to the family name of its owner. Cards are left according to the pedigree of the dog visited.

If She Winked.

"Get down! Get down!" said a cross crabbid old man as two natty little archers stood up in front of him at an entertainment. "I can't see or wink." "Aw, go on!" cried one of them. "If she winks we'll tell you," and remained where they stood the rest of the evening.

CHOOSE SITE FOR Y. M. C. A.

Waukegan's New Building to be Located on Corner of Clayton and Genesee

$10,300 PRICE OF THE SITE

Building Will be Three Stories High and Bids Will be Advertised for and Erected at Once

After several months of deliberation, the Y. M. C. A. site committee has agreed upon a site for the Y. M. C. A. building in Waukegan. The arrangement was made last Saturday when the option upon the property where the Little Auditorium hotel now stands, northeast corner of Clayton and Genesee streets, was closed. An additional nineteen feet on the north was purchased also, making the lot 88 by 81 feet. The total cost of the site is $10,300. The site is considered ideal and it is expected that it will meet public approval.

The Little Auditorium property was owned by H. W. May of Chicago. The price asked for this tract was $8,000. The additional nineteen feet belonged to Henry Sheppard of Gurnee. This sold for $2,300. The option on the May property was closed several days ago, but the option on the Sheppard property was not closed until Saturday.

The site committee which was made up of Messrs. Barwell, Yager and Diver, had considered eight sites in all. One of them was the site where the old academy stands, another was a part of the Crocker property, another was on Madison street north of the court house, three were on County street, one was on Water street, one was the Hinckley property on Sheridan Road and the other the Little Auditorium site.

As soon as the abstracts have been received the Y. M. C. A. association of which Attorney L. P. Hanna is president will call for proposals to build a three story structure to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.

The site committee has not given out any details of their work up to now fearing that if they announced one site as being favored over another that the price for it would be boosted at once. The work of erecting the building should progress rapidly now.

DECORATION DAY IS OBSERVED

The G. A. R. memorial services held at the M. E. church last Sunday morning were largely attended by the old soldiers and their friends, fifteen of the veterans being present. Rev. Adolph O. Stürdud delivered the memorial sermon which was declared one of the best of the kind ever listened to, his text being "I Have Fought the Fight, I Have Finished the Course, I Have Kept the Faith."

The church was decorated with flags and flowers and appropriate music was rendered by the choir, their selections being "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" and "Sleep Soldier Sleep."

On Tuesday morning, as is the usual custom each memorial day, the old soldiers together with the school children, and a number of citizens, formed in line and bearing flags and flowers marched to the cemetery where they decorated the graves of their deceased comrades.

Each year the ranks of the veterans are becoming thinner and ere many more years have rolled around there will be none to take their place in the march that has been an annual event for so many years, but it can safely be said that even when that time shall come that loyal friends will still cherish the memory of their brave deeds and that no Decoration Day will pass unobserved.

Stereotyped Answer.

The Professor—And to what is the cause of the fire which destroyed ancient Rome attributed? The Student (promptly)—To the careless handling of a cigarette. The Professor—But why there were no cigarettes at that time? The Student (hopelessly)—Well, I never heard of a fire starting from any other cause.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

INDUSTRIAL COLONY FOR LAKES

$200,000 Bowen Memorial to be Located on One of the Small Lakes

MAY BE ON CHANNEL LAKE

Waukegan Sites, Recently Examined, are Rejected Because Deal for Site Was Nearly Settled Here

The big industrial colony for the poor of Chicago, planned by Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen of Chicago at a cost of probably $200,000, will not be located in or about Waukegan, although strenuous efforts have been made to so locate it.

It will, however, be located in Lake county, at one of the small lakes in the western part of the county, which one it cannot be learned, as while the deal is nearly closed, final papers have not been signed.

While the placing of the colony in Lake county is considered a matter of congratulation, due to the strenuous competition in sites, it is regretted that it could not have been located in Waukegan or near here in some favored spot.

Representatives of Mrs. Bowen, who was left many millions by her husband, have, however, been here within a short time and have examined all of the available sites.

Judge and Parker, real estate firm of the Dodge building, had the matter of choice of a site here up with Mrs. Bowen's representatives, and one of her agents examined the Haines tract, the property of ex Mayor Cook and spoken of as a public park.

This tract was offered to Bowen agents at nearly twice the figure which the people of Waukegan had been to pay for it as a park, a signal tribute to the generosity of the ex-mayor.

The agent also examined the O'Malley tract near Chicago and Lake Bluff, and the Gouly tract on north Sheridan road.

Reasons for refusal of Waukegan sites were the following:

They were all too far from the lake, where boating, fishing and hunting were desirable; that they were all a trifle too far from Chicago; that transportation is generally donated the poor people who will frequent an institution such as is to be established, and that the distance is too far for this usual gift from the railroads; and lastly that the deal for the site on the county lake was already nearly finished, so that the visits to Waukegan were merely courteous.

The colony is to be an industrial one, designed for adults and children alike, and the site alone will cost about $50,000, the buildings costing three times that, or more if necessary.—Waukegan Sun.

Allendale Base Ball News

The Allendale Tigers played the Highland Park Grammar school and were defeated by a score of 12 to 10. The feature of the game was Allendale scoring six runs in the last part of the ninth inning. In the afternoon another game was played, Highland Park losing to the Orioles by a score of 17 to 5.

The Allendale Orioles played the Grayslake Wildcats last Saturday afternoon in a hard fought game from start to finish.

The Allendales were resplendent in their new uniforms and entered the game with a determination "to do or die." Mr. Bradley accompanied them, but was obliged to leave before the game. With each inning the game grew more and more exciting. Allendale used three pitchers, all very good ones, Charles Roth was coxswain and came near having to leave the diamond in the seventh inning when the opposing team discovered that he was giving signs to his men. In the ninth inning the Oriole pitcher John Smith left three men on bases and fanned the next two batters. Grayslake was not satisfied with Allendale having the lead in that inning, so a man who had tried out for the White Sox wanted to bat for a Grayslake player but was not allowed to do so and the last man fanned.

MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

By First Cutting Throat With Razor and Then Putting Head in Gas Oven

Failing in his attempt to cut his throat with a razor and commit suicide, Farmer Turtle of Highland Park turned to the gas stove as a last resort, and finally succeeded in his attempt at self destruction by placing his head in the oven and turning on the gas.

He was found by members of the family early Monday morning in his night clothes, and had apparently been dead several hours. There is no reason which can be advanced for his act. He has been working at his trade as a laborer for William Nash, a contractor at Highland Park, and was known as a good workman, sober, and never as far as can be learned subject to spells of melancholia.

His father, Thomas Turtle, is a well-known gardener of Highland Park and has been a resident of that city for many years.

From appearances of the body when it was found, it is said, he had attempted to kill himself with a razor in his room at the home. Failing, it is claimed, in this act, he walked from his room to the kitchen leaving a trail of blood in his wake. Opening the door of the gas oven in the kitchen gas range, he apparently placed his head inside, closed the door as far as possible, and turned on the gas. His body was found by his father at an early hour Monday morning.

World's Copyright Laws

A writer in the London Chronicle, discussing copyright laws, says that Mexico, Venezuela and Guatemala are the only countries where authors enjoy the privilege of perpetual copyright. This is worth something in Mexico, where there is a fairly large reading public, but is of little or no value in the other two countries. Spain is the most generous of European countries toward its authors. Copyright there lasts for 80 years after the author's death. In France the term is 50 years, and in Germany, where no copyright law existed until 1870, it is 30 years. "In the United States," adds the Chronicle, "copyright lasts for 28 years after publication, and this is extended to 42 years if the author or his widow or children are alive at the expiration of the term. And that is the country of poets."

Swiss to Have National Park.

Switzerland is to have a national park similar to the Yellowstone National park. On the border of Italy, at the foot of the Piz Quatrevals, is a section, including the Chuvra valley, that is rich in botanical and geological wealth, and that has high altitude, healthful climate and beautiful scenery. It is proposed to reserve this for park purposes, and as the region has legendary and historic associations of great national interest, the people generally favor the plan.

DISPATCHER MAY BE BLAMED

For Wreck and Loss of Life in the Taylor's Crossing Accident Last Week

MIXED ORDERS, IS CLAIMED

Second Hearing Will be Held at Grays Lake Soon at Which Train Dispatcher Will be Called to Testify

The coroner's jury, impelled to inquire into the death of Fred Miller and James Carey, who were killed in the collision of two freight trains at Grayslake Monday morning of last week, were unable to agree on a verdict and were dismissed Thursday afternoon.

The cause of the disagreement was the inability of the jury to fix the blame for the accident.

At the inquest a bungle of orders developed, it is alleged. It seems that the train dispatcher of the road sent out four orders in all, each different from its predecessor. The first order received, No. 15, had it not been countermanded, it is said, would have avoided the accident. This order stated that the ice train, which was going to Taylor's Lake with ice, should wait until the south bound train passed at Grayslake. This same order was sent to the south bound crew, to meet the ice train at Grayslake.

A few moments after this message came, another ticked over the wires, saying that two trains should meet at Lake Villa. This order was received by the ice train, but not, it is alleged, by the crew of the south bound freight.

This order was No. 17.

Another message, No. 18, was sent later to the agent at Grayslake annulling No. 17, thus leaving the meeting place of the trains at Grayslake, as in the first order. This was addressed to the train crew of the south train, it is said. The ice train, believing that order 17 to meet at Lake Villa was still in effect proceeded on its way to the ice house, and were ready to make the switch when the accident occurred. Still another order was received, No. 19 which directed the agent to keep No. 17 on file in the office at Lake Villa.

Thus the north bound train was left apparently without any orders whatever, and the collision was the result of the alleged mix-up in orders. As a result of the disagreement, a second hearing will be held at Grayslake in a few days, at which the train dispatcher will be present to give his version of the accident.

RECENT IMPROVEMENTS AT MOUNT VERNON

AN EFFORT is to be made to have the new congress take up the proposal that means to be devised whereby the United States government may acquire title to and assume the management of Mount Vernon, on the Potomac, the home and tomb of George Washington. It was only because the last congress at the session which closed a few months ago took definite action in the matter that there was halted a project to profane the historic precincts of Mount Vernon by the location of a reformatory in the vicinity and it is being argued that if congress has to bestow such fostering care upon the famous mansion and estate why not have the whole management of the institution (which really belongs to the whole people) vested in the elective body closest to the people.

Several unsuccessful attempts have been stone, as many people suppose, but has a frame of oak, sheathed with pine cut, painted and studded to resemble stone. The new system enables the heating of all the rooms in the mansion by a hot water system and yet the boiler room, with the inevitable menace that comes from fire and stored fuel is located 400 feet from the mansion and wholly underground.

Another modern improvement at this rejuvenated estate in old Virginia is found in the provision of a fine water supply obtained from a splendid artesian well. Powerful pumps, operated by electricity, supply water from this well for household purposes and keep filled at all times the emergency reservoirs which would be depended upon in case of fire. Incidentally it may be explained that the score of men including guards, gardeners, laborers, etc., who work and live on the Mount Vernon estate or close at hand, are organized into a well-drilled fire-fighting force and they have chemical and steam engines for fighting the flames, should this destructive agent ever menace the mansion—a remote chance, it would seem, for all the rooms in the house and all the exterior walls have been treated with a fire-resisting paint.

For all that electricity is employed to pump water and perform certain other chores on the Mount Vernon estate, the magic cur-

GOOD WORK WELL SUPPORTED

People Are Liberal in Their Contributions to Young Men's Christian Associations.

This year Young Men's Christian associations are likely, it is said, to break all records in amount of money raised for new buildings. The success at Philadelphia, when $1,030,000 was secured in twelve days, has given stimulus both to Young Men's and Young Women's associations. Added to it was the $2,000,000 campaign for building in foreign capitals. Brooklyn women, with the aid of a few men, have just secured $415,000; Atlanta men, $800,000; Reading, $217,000; Elyria, Ohio, $127,000, where the committee asked for but $100,000; Charleston, S. C., $180,000; Raleigh, N. C., $75,000; Walla Walla, Wash., $48,000, and Ishpeming, Mich., $22,500. Association leaders say three things help them in getting these large sums: Christian unity, a short and public appeal, and real results accomplished in buildings already erected.

WELCOMED BY MEN WHO SMOKE

Particular men who smoke realize how offensive to people of refinement is a strong tobacco breath, and how objectionable to themselves is that "dark brown taste" in the mouth after smoking.

Paxtine Toilet Antiseptic is worth its weight in gold for this purpose alone. Just a little in a glass of water—rinse the mouth and brush the teeth. The mouth is thoroughly deodorized, the breath becomes pure and sweet and a delightful sense of mouth cleanliness replaces that dark brown tobacco taste.

Paxtine is far superior to liquid antiseptics and Peroxide for all toilet and hygienic uses and may be obtained at any drug store 25 and 50c a box or sent postpaid upon receipt of price by The Paxtine Toilet Co., Boston, Mass. Send for a free sample.

made in the past to have our national legislature take some action in this matter. There is, however, constant agitation on the subject and a continual increase in the number of people who look upon it as a public shame that our greatest patriotic shrine should be in other hands than Uncle Sam's. This sentiment is due in great measure to what the critics are pleased to dub the "dime museum" methods which obtain in the conduct of this tourist mecca. The procedure complained of is the charging of an admission fee for entrance to the grounds and the sale of postal cards, guide books and other commodities. Unfavorable sentiment is attributable especially to the circumstance that most of the money making enterprises conducted at Mount Vernon are on the monopolistic order. Only an approved brand of guide book can be purchased on the grounds and so on through the whole list of articles for sale, even to the circumstance that a single line of steamers on the Potomac river has the exclusive privilege of landing tourists at Mount Vernon.

However, whatever may have been the mistakes of the association of women who have control of Mount Vernon, or of the superintendent who for twenty-five years has had the authority of general manager of Mount Vernon, there is no denying that they have accomplished much in the restoration and maintenance of the mansion house and the most interesting part of the famous Virginia plantation. Only recently has there been completed an important undertaking in landscape architecture which is especially notable because it supplies the final feature needed to restore the actual conditions of George Washington's day at the country seat which the Father of His Country loved so well and where he lived and died. This final restoration has been the replacing of the lawn and garden walls which in colonial times played an important part in the surroundings of Mount Vernon, as they did in the case of almost every mansion of its type.

The original walls on the Mount Vernon estate, most of which were constructed under the supervision of Washington himself, were in an excellent state of preservation when he died, but successive heirs to the estate allowed them to fall into decay until there was naught left but the foundations. These walls, which add so much to the appearance of the Mount Vernon estate, would have been restored years ago had it been merely a matter of expense, for the whole work cost only about $1,500. However, a more serious stumbling block delayed operations—namely, a desire to secure brick that would be duplicates of those originally employed and which would consequently enable adherence to the policy of having everything historically correct to the most minute detail.

After a quest that had continued for more than a score of years the long-sought bricks were recently obtained when there was demolished an old colonial mansion known as Society Hill, located in King George county, Virginia. This structure, which was built by Colonel Thornton, a close friend of George Washington—and which by coincidence later passed into the possession of a member of the Washington family—was constructed of bricks brought from England. The bricks in the Society Hill mansion, when cleaned, proved to be identical in size and color with the bricks found in the ruined foundations of the original garden walls at Mount Vernon. Accordingly the walls were restored in accordance with the original drawings and enough of the original Washington bricks were rescued from the old foundations to provide a coping for the walls, the bricks obtained from the King George county site furnishing the remainder of the material needed.

THE BRICK WALLS MUST COMPLETED AT MOUNT VERNON ESTATE

sired material for this roof, just as it was no end of trouble to find the bricks for the walls above referred to. About 50,000 cypress shingles were needed for the new roof, but they must needs be "rived" shingles because Washington had that kind and it seemed impossible to find any rived shingles, because nowadays shingles are not made that way, sawing being much easier than splitting. Finally a lumber firm in South Carolina undertook to supply shingles that would duplicate those of Washington's day, but they charged almost a cent apiece for the shingles, which made the roof a pretty expensive one.

Mount Vernon mansion now has one of the most perfect heating systems to be found in any American residence. It was designed especially to prevent danger from fire—and in this connection it may be mentioned that Washington's old home is not built of brick or rent is not allowed in the precious mansion and the mansion house is lighted as it was in the days of yore, solely by candles.

There has been another notable undertaking at Mount Vernon in the form of the construction of drainage works which control forces of nature that threatened to play havoc on the famous estate. This new system of sanitary drainage has, first of all, served to reclaim the bogs and swamps which at one time gave the place a reputation for unhealthfulness. Equally serious in possible results were the threatened landslides near the mansion and in the vicinity of the old tomb of Washington, from which, however, the body of Washington was removed some years ago to the new tomb. These slides have been averted for all time by the construction at considerable cost of a tunnel which pierces the hill on which the mansion stands.

NO PLACE FOR FATHER

Bathroom Nook Only Place in Which Family Head May Find Privacy

The English home with its lack of "proper" heating and also its sad lack of ventilation and bathtubs is no more a marvel to the American woman than the American home is to the English woman. The latter freely admits that the conveniences of the American home are beyond compare, but there is one serious defect that is always commented on. This is set forth by Mary Mortimer Maxwell in the National Review (London). There is no place for father. Surely there must be some truth in this, for so many British women have called attention to the fact that we have no privacy in our homes, and have pointed to the shortcomings of pretty strands of beads serving as doors. And to the fact that the bathroom is the only sanctuary, the Indianapolis News remarks. This is borne out by observations in many cities. A former official in Indiana is well read in history. He also has a family. He freely admits that he absorbed his history lying with pillow in the bathtub, safe beyond the reach of the growing children. This is just what Mary Mortimer Maxwell is speaking about when she says:

"But the member of the American family to whom my thoughts turn in greatest sympathy in regard to the lack of privacy and the denial of the opportunity for the cultivation of individuality is the father—he who pays for everything, buys the house with his own earnings or hires it, and yet generally has not so much as a corner that is his very own. It is called 'his house.' It has many rooms. There are the drawing room, the living room, the library. There are numerous bedrooms and dressing rooms, but if he really desires solitude, there would seem to be nothing for him but to lock himself up in the bathroom. Sometimes you hear the members of an American family speak of 'father's den.' To be sure. Why, just before I left America a New York friend, when I was showing me through her new house, said to me, 'This is my husband's den,' showing me into the sunniest and brightest room in the house. My eyes rested upon antiques and tea caddies, a copy of 'Poems of Passion,' an embroidery frame, a train of 'choo-choo' cars and a box of such American confections as my soul delights in and which no man could possibly be seen eating. I looked about for rows of curious pipes, for a horribly dusty and discarded writing table, a lounging jacket—out at elbows, but, oh, so comfortable after the work-day coat—a copy or two of a sporting paper; but not a sign of such mute witnesses to masculine ownership of that room did I see.

'It's the sunniest room in the house,' went on that wickedly selfish little American woman, 'so the children and I spend a great deal of time here.'

"I have been shown through other American homes where the husbands had their 'own' dressing rooms, their 'own' hanging cupboards, and have noted with surprise the complexion balms, bodkins with pink beebie ribbon ready for running through lace, bonnet wheels and out glass powder boxes lying upon the chiffonier along with military brushes and safety razors. 'I do believe in separating dressing rooms and separate dressing tables,' the fond wife would gush, and then she would show me her husband's 'own' hanging cupboard' which, being fitted up with a new kind of patent trouser stretcher which she found exactly the thing for keeping her skirts in neat order, she had taken possession of up to the farthest and darkest corner, where a pathetic and lonely gossamer might hang on a solitary peg."

Does this thing, after all, make the path to the divorce courts popular? Our British critics sometime think so. Men are brutish folk at the best, and sometimes do like to be alone.

Would Destroy One Joke.

Locks of every imaginable kind have been invented, but there is now on the market a keyless door lock that is rapidly taking the place of the lock of the old style. Harper's Weekly notes.

These keyless locks do not appear, at a glance, to differ greatly from the ordinary lock. They have a fancy plate and a knob and they can be placed on any door. Instead of the key and keyhole, however, there is a particular bit of mechanism beneath the knob, with four to six little levers, which can be pressed or raised to unlock the door. The owner or person who has a right to enter can be given the combination and the lifting of one or more of these little levers, one or more times, just as may be arranged, will release the bolt and the door will open. The closing of the door will lock it and a certain lever will release it if it is worked from the inside. Numerous combinations may be had and these can be changed at any time.

The Dog's Mind.

I have a Skye terrier possessing what seems to me at least to be an extraordinary knowledge of time. On each day of the week, excepting Saturday, some scholars pass along a road at the back of my grounds, about 4 p. m., on their way home—about a mile distant. If the dog is out of doors he invariably joins them, accompanies them home, and returns. If he should happen to be indoors at the hour they pass, he sits at a window watching for them; and when they appear, he asks plainly and palpably to be let out. On Saturday, however, when the school is shut, as soon as the doors of my house are opened in the morning, he makes off for the children's cottage, and spends the week end with them, returning to me on Monday. And so it goes on for weeks.—The Scotsman.

Animals on the Stage.

Although human actors often fail to arouse enthusiasm, animal actors never appear without being appreciated. At the Hippodrome a boxing kangaroo and a troupe of unusually well-trained monkeys keep the audience in gales of laughter while their act is on. I cannot imagine a more grotesque animal on the stage than a kangaroo. This one is the most famous of its kind in the world. Its boxes with the skill of a trained pugilist and ducks his head and evades a blow with a suggestion of real thought. The kangaroo belongs to the clown Armando, but it is Mrs. Armando who teaches him how to box. It is not easy to train a kangaroo. To punish one would be disastrous, because of the natural tendency which he has toward suicide.—Harriet Quibby in Leslie's.

Despised Thistle a Forage.

It was by accident the western Kansas farmers found that Russian thistles make a good forage crop for cattle. The farmers for years had battled against the Russian thistle pest and the state legislature appropriated money to combat it.

One day after a heavy windstorm a farmer found all his cattle eating Russian thistles that had banked up against a barbed wire fence. The news spread rapidly over the western part of the state and as a result Russian thistles are now harvested with as much care as alfalfa.—Kansas City Journal.

Johnny Cake's Name.

Johnny cake is certainly about as queer bread as was ever got up. Tip has never seen any true account of it whatever. Pone dough is molded around a iron market railroad or on a long green strong switch and held over the fire until roasted or baked, or whatever you call it. In old times Gen. Forrest's men cooked cornmeal retons, hence Johnny cake, Johnny Reb. Tip has heard old Texas say that Sam Houston to his dying day ate such corn cakes, which he learned to make from his long life among the ponies.—New York Press.

Church Barrel Organ.
Speaking at a Liangollen meeting, the bishop of St. Asaph recalled that he held his first church appointment at Liangollen. The music to accompany the choir was then supplied by a barrel organ. As a boy he churned it out by regularly turning the handle. —Westminster Gazette.

On Grudge-Bearing.
One of the worst things about bearing a grudge is that the bearer is the only one who is likely to be burdened much by it.

DIAZ FLEES MEXICO

PEEBLE FROM ILLNESS FORMER RULER OF REPUBLIC BE-COMES A FUGITIVE.

SPAIN IS TO BE HIS HAVEN

Accompanied by Few Friends Fallen
Chief Creeps Secretly from Palace and Starts for Vera Cruz—Madero
Resigns Provisional Presidency.

Mexico City.—Porfirio Diaz, for whom during thirty years all Mexico has stood to one side, but in hand, stole from the capital with the greatest of secrecy and, with a few devoted friends whom he dared trust, started for Vera Cruz.

The blood poison and the fever that had kept Diaz a prisoner in the national palace are not abated. But there is more danger than that of the body. Diaz, still president and still hoping against hope that he would be able to resist the demand for his resignation, could not be accompanied by more physical pain. But Diaz departed in that broken spirit, unable to witness the triumph of his enemies.

So on the day following his resignation with the cheers for his successor, the former president, the old as provisioned president, running through the streets, he went like a leader, evading from his hole, out into the country, slowly, sorrowfully away.

Only Senora Diaz and a few of the ultra-fiducial accompany the former president. As understood here, the party will go to Vera Cruz and embark there for Spain.

Diaz had hoped, at least to end his days in Mexico. Madero declared with Diaz in the country, permanent peace would not be possible. So he is gone from a weathering people never to return.

At Mexico City the feeling is one of relief mixed with just a bit of sorrow. The country is free—free as it never has been before in its history. But with all this joy, even the most radical party is compelled to admit, now as it is gone, that Diaz accomplished a great work in Mexico.

At Paso, Mex.—Francisco I. Madero, late president of Mexico, resigned following the resignation of Porfirio Diaz as president of Mexico. He issued a manifesto renouncing the title of president of the provisional government and establishing the peace terms reached between himself and the federalists. He expressed the utmost confidence in Francisco Diaz as there will be inside the office of temporary president, and says the insurgents are at the disposal of Diaz in enforcing peace.

Madero said he did not embrace all demands that he and his party declared for at San Luis Potosi last November when he said all governments must be sworn to because he had a chance now to get power by supporting more than half the government, and he considered this honorable, and especially since the resignation of Diaz and Carranza have been tendered and new elections were assured.

Asked if he would announce his candidacy for the presidency of Mexico, Madero said that he would not, that such a thing was not considered proper in his position, but his friends would advance his name at the proper time.

The inauguration of Diaz as provisional president was a brief affair, occupying only ten minutes.

GRANT GUILTY OF HERESY

Presbyterian Pastor Is Ordered to Abandon Ministry Until He Corrects His Errors.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Rev. Dr. William D. Grant of Northumberland, Pa., has been found guilty of heresy by the commission which heard the charges made against him.

The commission reported its findings to the Presbyterian general assembly. The commission found that Doctor Grant "taught doctrines contrary to the word of God in the Bible and the Presbyterian confession of faith." He is held to be guilty under the rules of the Presbyterian book of discipline and the commission recommends that he be suspended from exercising the functions of a minister until such time as "he can convince his own presbytery—that of Northumberland—that he has renounced the errors he has been found to hold and to satisfy the presbytery of his purpose no longer to teach them."

A motion to adopt the report and confirm the judgment of the commission was put to a vote in the assembly and was carried overwhelmingly without debate.

There were only a few scattered "noes."

DENY PARDON PLEAS

TAFT REFUSES TO FREE WALSH AND MORSE FROM PRISON.

Declares Men Guilty of Breach of Trust Must Be Punished Under the National Banking Act.

Washington.—The petitions for pardons of John R. Walsh and Charles V. Morse of New York, both serving sentences in the federal prison for violating the banking laws, were denied by President Taft.

Walsh is now confined in the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan. On January 19, 1910, he began serving a five-year sentence and, under the provisions of the new parole law, he will be eligible for freedom in the middle of September of this year.

The decisions were handed down by the president and followed a lengthy conference with Attorney General Wickersham. In both cases he followed the recommendations of the attorney general.

President Taft's action in the Walsh case was based strictly on a close analysis of the facts contained in the records. Declaring that a man who uses the funds of a bank to promote his private interests in such a manner that he is guilty of a fraudulent breach of trust must be punished under the national banking act, the president swept aside the reasons advanced by Walsh and the thousands who petitioned for his pardon.

In denying the application of Charles V. Morse, who is now serving a sentence of 15 years in the penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., where he was sent on January 2, 1910, the president characterizes his request as premature, and accordingly he gives the New York banker the privilege of re-nouncing it after January 1, 1913.

The president denies Morse's application for the same reason given in the Walsh case, after declaring that the methods taken by Morse tend to show that more than merely a technical breach of trust was involved.

HINES IN GENERAL DENIAL

Tells Lumbermen's Association He Is Not Guilty of Charges Made in Lumber Case.

Chicago.—"I absolutely and unqualifiedly deny these charges. I have no apology to make for my conduct. At the proper time and in the proper procedure I shall vindicate myself and defend my trade."

In those words Edward Hines, mill-lumberman, made a voluntary defense against the charges that he "put lumber over" at a cost of $100,000. He spoke as he opened the ninth annual convention of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association in the Congress hotel.

Of the 200 or more lumbermen present more than half applauded vigorously when the president made his statement, which was not a part of the set annual address he had prepared.

Mr. Hines said that at some time in the future he would insist, on a full and thorough investigation before a tribunal that "will not be a mere tool of politics and a grotesque travesty on justice and on law."

NEW BATTLESHIP IS AFLOAT

Dreadnought Wyoming Is Launched at Philadelphia and Is Christened
by Miss Dorothy Knight.

Philadelphia.—The United States battleship Wyoming, unsurpassed by any fighting vessel in the world, was launched at the Cramp shipyard, and as she slid down the ways into the water Miss Dorothy Knight, daughter of former Supreme Court Justice Jesse Knight of Wyoming, hurled a magnanimous Champagne at the bow and cried:

"Go, brave ship; I christen thee Wyoming."

Standing with Miss Knight were dignitaries from Washington, a scattering of society folk from Philadelphia and representatives of the state of Wyoming and other states in the Union.

AFTER THE WEATHER MAN

The house of representatives has appointed a committee of seven members from various states to investigate the weather bureau of the Department of Agriculture. It is said that the farmers are complaining of the reports of the Weather Man as "faint, inaccurate and otherwise objectionable." They even estimate that "weather" predictions are usually followed by dry weather and vice versa, and that the "fair" weather promised is apt to turn out stormy.—Washington News Item.

HARLAN SEES PERIL

SAYS COLLEAGUES ON SUPREME COURT TELL STANDARD IT

PREDICTS MUCH LITIGATION

Formal Dissenting Ruling Declares
Business May Be Brought Near Chaos—Censures Tribunal for Permitting New Arguments.

Washington.—Associate Justice John M. Harlan, in his formal dissenting opinion, filed here, characterized the assenting opinion given in the Standard Oil case as "a blow at the integrity of our government system that in the end will prove most dangerous to all."

"The disposition of the case under consideration, according to the views of the defendants, will, it is claimed, quiet and give rest to the business of the country. On the contrary, I have a strong conviction that it will throw the business of the country into confusion and invite widely extended and harassing litigation, the injurious effects of which will be felt for many years to come. When congress prohibited every contract, combination or monopoly restraint of commerce it prescribed a simple, definite rule that all could understand and could be easily applied by everyone wishing to obey the law and not to conduct their business in violation of law."

"But now it is to be feared we are to have, in cases without number, the constantly recurring inquiry—difficult to solve by process—whether the particular contract, combination or trust involved in each case is or is not an 'unreasonable' or 'undue' restraint of trade."

"There are some who say that it is a part of one's liberty to conduct commerce among the states without being subject to governmental authority. But that would not be liberty, regulated by law, and liberty which cannot be regulated by law is not to be desired. The supreme law of the land, which is binding alike upon all—upon presidents, congress, the courts and people—gives to congress, and to congress alone, authority to regulate interstate commerce, and when congress forbids any restraint of such commerce in any form all must obey its mandate. To overreach the action of congress merely by judicial construction, that is, by indirection, is a blow at the integrity of our government system, and in the end will prove most dangerous to all."

WISCONSIN A MODEL

ROOSEVELT SAYS STATE IS OB-JECT LESSON FOR UNION.

Colonel Lauds Work Accomplished in Social Economics and Governmental Affairs.

New York.—"Wisconsin: An Object Lesson for the Rest of the Union" is the caption of an article in the Outlook from the pen of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt. Among other things, the colonel says:

"I doubt whether American students of social economics fully realize the extraordinary work accomplished during the last decade, and now being accomplished in the state of Wisconsin under the lead of Senator La Follette and the group of entirely practical and at the same time zealously enthusiastic workers who have come into active control of the state mainly or largely because of the lead he has given them."

"We can now, at least in many cases, look for leadership to Wisconsin when we desire to try to solve the great social and industrial problems of the present and the future, instead of being forced always to look abroad. It is noteworthy that in Wisconsin when one speaks of such leadership it is possible to include therein the student as well as the political leader. In no other state in the Union has any university done the same work for the community that has been done in Wisconsin by the University of Wisconsin."

"It is only in Wisconsin, so far as I know, that a really serious and thorough effort is making to find out how to frame measures which shall give the people effective control over the big corporations without going into wild extravagances, and in this effort politicians and students have joined hands. Again, I found the legislators grappling with the question of workmen's compensation. . . . They were engaged in considering the introduction into the state political system of the initiative, referendum and recall."

"What they were considering in each case were the probable practical results of the measure, what it would do for good, what it would do for evil, and how in actual practice it should be guarded and so applied as to make it likely that it would secure the maximum of good at the cost of the minimum of evil."

"After my visit I felt like congratulating Wisconsin upon what it had done and was doing, and I felt much more like congratulating the country as a whole because it has in the state of Wisconsin a pioneer blazing the way along which we Americans must make our civil and industrial advances during the next few decades."

TRUST SECRETS OUT

INSIDE HISTORY OF U. S. STEEL CORPORATION TOLD BY
J. W. GATES.

BARES FORMING OF COMBINE

Organized Because Morgan Feared
That Carnegie Would Invade Railroad Field and to Throttle Competition.

Washington.—John W. Gates gave to the house "steel trust" investigating committee the history of the United States Steel corporation.

Present at the birth of the greatest steel manufacturing concern in the world, he described how it was the natural outcome of what he described as the refusal of Andrew Carnegie to be bound by the "gentlemen's agreements" that marked the early days of open competition in the steel business.

He told also of millions lost and created almost in a breath; how the Carnegie mills, appraised at $160,000,000, were recognized as worth $320,000,000 almost within the time required to make the transfer to the corporation; the grim clash in the formative days when John D. Rockefeller was dissuaded from joining in the formation of the corporation and the manner in which others were prevented from engaging in the steel trade.

Repeating how Carnegie had been forced to abandon plans for extending his steel business, Mr. Gates frankly admitted that the gigantic industrial combination was formed to throttle competition, and he surprised the committee with the further information that when John D. Rockefeller had sought to enter the steel business a deal had been put through by which the Standard Oil magnate was forced to sell out for 49 cents on the dollar.

Characterizing Mr. Carnegie as "a bull in a china shop," Mr. Gates told of a midnight conference between himself, Charles M. Schwab and J. Pierpont Morgan, at which the steel corporation was conceived, and how it resulted in Carnegie getting $320,000,000 in the corporation's securities for his steel interests, which he previously had offered for $160,000,000 in cash.

Mr. Gates also told the committee of the taking over of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation during the panic of 1907, a deal in which he was interested as a stockholder of the Tennessee company. This, he declared, was a forced transaction carried out by Mr. Morgan and other financial leaders to save from ruin the Trust Company of America, threatened in the financial upheaval, because it had loaned too much money on stock of the Tennessee company.

Plans made by Mr. Carnegie in 1899 and 1900 to circle his steel interests with a railroad of his own and to compete with the National Tube company just organized by Mr. Morgan by the erection of tube works at Ashtabula, O., were the factors that led to the birth of the steel combine. The story of the negotiations which led up to the combination was entertainingly told by Mr. Gates.

He revealed how Mr. Morgan, alarmed by Mr. Carnegie's plans, had sought the advice of himself and James J. Hill, how Mr. Schwab, who he said was the only man who had influence with Mr. Carnegie, was called in to suggest a way to "stop Carnegie" and how the latter was curbed by his purpose, though greedily to his financial gain.

He explained that the steel business was threatened with several demoralizing forces when Carnegie's plans became known and that Mr. Morgan and others became alarmed, fearing Carnegie would demoralize both railroad interests and steel prices.

This was the situation as described by Mr. Gates when Mr. Morgan sent word to him through James J. Hill seeking a conference to determine what could be done. Mr. Gates said he told Morgan that Mr. Schwab was the one man who could influence Mr. Carnegie. Out of that came an all night conference at Mr. Morgan's New York home, the outcome of which was the United States Steel corporation.

John D. Rockefeller's name came up in the hearing when Mr. Gates was describing Mr. Carnegie's desire to branch out after the organization of the National Tube company.

"John D. Rockefeller," he said, "once started a steel mill and threatened to put us out of business. That did not last long. A deal was made whereby Rockefeller's steel interests were bought out at 40 cents on the dollar."

Mr. Gates answered with candor nearly every question put to him by the members of the committee, but stirred them somewhat when he declined to state what he thought was the value of the common stock of the steel corporation.

MENTAL ACCURACY

Greatly Improved by Leaving Off Coffee

The manager of an extensive creamery in Wis. states that while a regular coffee drinker, he found it injurious to his health and a hindrance to the performance of his business duties.

"It impaired my digestion, gave me a distressing sense of fullness in the region of the stomach, causing a most painful and disquieting palpitation of the heart, and what is worse, it impaired my mental faculties so as to seriously injure my business efficiency."

"I finally concluded that something would have to be done. I quit the use of coffee, short off, and began to drink Postum. The cook didn't make it right at first. She didn't boil it long enough, and I did not find it palatable and quit using it and went back to coffee and to the stomach trouble again."

"Then my wife took the matter in hand, and by following the directions on the box, faithfully, she had me drinking Postum for several days before I knew it."

"When I happened to remark that I was feeling much better than I had for a long time, she told me that I had been drinking Postum, and that accounted for it. Now we have no coffee on our table."

"My digestion has been restored, and with this improvement has come relief from the oppressive sense of fullness and palpitation of the heart that used to bother me so. I note such a gain in mental strength and acuteness that I can attend to my office work with ease and pleasure and without making the mistakes that were so annoying to me while I was using coffee."

"Postum is the greatest table drink of the times, in my humble estimation." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish."

Mrs. HIRSHMAN SIEG, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

The White House Is Closely Guarded

WASHINGTON.—Probably no other building in America is so well guarded as the White House. It takes 42 men to do it daily. If any mischievous stranger should seek entrance, he would not get far. Twenty-four men guard the outside of the building and 18 the inside. Eight are in the executive offices. Fourteen guard the White House within and without at night. The number of men enumerated does not include the secret service men who guard the person of the president and who are sometimes in service to guard the members of the president's family. Every door in the White House has its policeman constantly on guard.

There are always two in the basement of the executive offices, where there is a large door leading from the street for the reception of supplies. There is always a policeman at the kitchen entrance. Two men in livery, not policemen, guard the main entrance into the White House at the north portico. In the daytime there is a policeman in the east room and one each at both stairways that lead to the private apartments of the president and his family on the upper floor.

There is a policeman always in the basement, the entrance to which is from the east wing of the mansion. At night a policeman guards the basement corridor of the interior, another the corridor of the main floor and another the corridor of the upper private floor.

Outside there is constant vigilance in front and in the rear, if the White House may be conceived as having any rear. The south front is as beautiful as the north front and indeed more so.

That the White House should have to be thus carefully guarded may seem strange to Americans whose chief executive is after all only a democrat who is a citizen temporarily, holding a high public office. But it is necessary. Three Presidents have been assassinated, although none ever at the White House. It would seem none ever could be because of the vigilance kept there. But a fierce light plays upon the White House and the occupants of it, especially the president, it attracts all kinds of people, and cranks are ever dangerous. Many is the one approached before he has gone far. And in this land of liberty there are also other people who have dangerous ideas centering on the life of the chief magistrate.

Bankers Quick to Detect Bad Money

THE exact chance of any one person having a bad piece of money is hard to determine, for the reason that no one, not even the secret service, knows at any one time just how much counterfeit currency is in circulation. But from years of experience the government agents at Washington have figured out that in paper money the proportion of bad to good is about $1 to $100,000, and in coin somewhere between $2 and $3 to $100,000.

The larger the coin or bill to be counterfeited the greater the danger of detection and the need of a more expensive plant. The commonest way of making spurious money is the turning out of base metal coins—but the operation is expensive. Silver, for instance, cannot be successfully cast. Base coins with silver in them must therefore be struck off in a steel die—a die representing days of work on the part of an expert engraver. Then there must be a powerful press to make the impressions.

In the counterfeiting of paper money there are three methods used, copying by hand, photographic reproduction, and the raising of genuine bills from lower to higher denominations. It takes a good man a whole day to change one bill. Fives raised to tens are the most frequent offenders of this sort. The workman thus makes $5.

And yet in spite of all care and all precautions, counterfeiters are eventually run to earth. Why? Three reasons: Bank, secret service and system. In the long run most money in circulation comes into the hands of some bank. And there the counterfeit, good or bad, eventually meets its downfall. Tellers and cashiers handle so much currency that they seem to be gifted with second sight.

If he cannot tell at first glance whether the money is bad, he consults two monthly counterfeiting magazines and usually finds what he is after. The magazine people co-operate with the secret service. And the next teller or cashier who gets the mate of the note knows right off what the counterfeit is.

Woman Soldier Now Seeks a Pension

NOT many men have had the varied and adventurous life led by Mrs. Louise B. Bliss of Sheridan, Wyo., who has just applied for a pension on the grounds that, dressed as a man, she served four years in the federal army as a member of Company G, Sixty-third infantry, from Illinois, from 1861 to 1865. Mrs. Bliss is now an old woman, with white hair and wrinkled face, and is almost destitute. In one cheek she bears the scar left by a bullet fired at Vicksburg; a long gash across the upper left arm is a memento of Corinth and a Confederate sabre.

According to the story told by Mrs. Bliss to the pension agent, and sworn to by her, she was living in Illinois at Jonesboro, when the war broke out. She was enthusiastic and patriotic and wanted to join the army, but of course could not do so in skirts. So she cut off her hair, obtained a suit of men's clothing and applied for enlistment. In the excitement and hurry of the early days of enlistment, when there were thousands of applicants, the alleged girl was passed and found herself a member of Col. McCowan's regiment, the Sixty-third infantry. She was assigned to Company G under Captain Richardson. After drilling and being otherwise "whipped" into line, the Sixty-third started south, and with it went the girl soldier. For four years she stood the strain of army and camp life, taking her "medicine" as it came to her, and in all ways being treated as were the other soldiers of the regiment.

Just before the war ended the true sex of the young soldier became known to a comrade, and immediately after being mustered out of the service because of the termination of hostilities, she married John Siber, who had served in the same company and regiment with her throughout the war.

Uncle Sam Warns Against Mosquitoes

WAR on the mosquito as well as on the house fly has been declared by the department of agriculture. As a disseminator of disease the mosquito is branded as being as great a menace to humanity as the fly. L. O. Howard, chief of the bureau of entomology, has issued a bulletin on the protection of communities from mosquitoes. He lays stress on the necessity of abolishing breeding places of the insect pest.

"Where the rain barrel and rain water tank are necessary they should be screened. The waste places in the immediate vicinity of a house should be carefully searched for tin cans, bottles and wooden or tin boxes in which water can accumulate, and all such receptacles should be destroyed or carried away. The roof gutters should be carefully examined to make sure that they are not clogged so as to allow the water to accumulate.

"The chicken pens in the poultry yard, the water in the troughs for domestic animals, the water cup of the grindstone are all places in which these pests of mosquitoes will breed. In slightly marshy ground a favorite breeding place is the footprints of cattle and horses. In one country village, which contains many small vegetable gardens in clay soil, during a rainy season mosquitoes were found breeding abundantly in the water accumulating in the furrows.

Even in the house these mosquitoes breed in many places. Where the water in flower vases is not frequently changed mosquitoes will breed. They will breed in water pitchers in unused guest rooms. Public dumps are great breeding places, because here accumulate old bottles, cans, boxes, bits of tin or iron vessels and other objects in which water may accumulate for a time."

MEN'S PLUMED HATS APPEAR

Downy Adornment for Masculine Attire is the Greatest Departure in a Century.

Chicago.—Plumed hats for men are the latest. They have made their appearance in Chicago and have caused a great wave of excitement among the fashionable men of the city. They are the biggest departure in masculine adornment, made in a century, and are so decided a change from the conventional that leading hatmakers declare that a complete transformation in men's formal attire will be the result. The extreme styles in men's plumed hats will not become popular at once, say experts. Extreme styles never do. But observant persons have noticed that for several years many of the better dressed men of Chicago have

Recently this feather has been made a trifle larger until the leaders of fashion have accepted it as a permanent feature of the thoroughly up-to-date hat.

The most striking of the new hats are in the shape of the foreign Alp hats which comes in all colors and can be had with any style of trimming desired. One shown is of a light pearl gray and trimmed with a dark green plume, with a light border of rich yellow. A Paris milliner would call it striking.

The same style with a long green quill makes another combination becoming to many faces. The Alp hat admits of almost unlimited changes and will permit well-dressed men to show as much individuality in the matter of hats as women do now.

The dent-crown imported soft hat shown, with a novelty wing, is of dark gray and comes in many pretty shades of brown, which will harmonize well with the newer fabrics which the tailors have been importing for spring suits. Wearers of the always formal silk hat will also be able to take advantage of fashion's latest caprice and will not be denied the privilege of ornamenting it.

Dignified white and gray saggittes and other more conservative feather effects can be added to the latest French style with the flat brim without defying the mandates of Dame Fashion.

FOR CROSS-COUNTRY FLYING

Aviators Gradually Turning Their Attention to More Important Phase of Sport.

New York.—Cross-country flying is gradually attracting more and more attention on the part of aviators. This is, of course, as it should be. Mere racing around a track, for hours at a time, goes for nothing in indicating the value of the aeroplane. Gradually the short trips, so uncertain and dangerous, have been stretched out, until now 150 miles in an air line is a common occurrence, made in a single non-stop flight. One of the most daring cross-country flyers is Pierre Vandrine, whose feats have astonished France. In one of these cross-country journeys he flew 151 miles and in another 212. Recently he flew from Paris to Pau, a distance of about 500 miles.

Bargains in Bright Dollars.

Trenton.—Because many foreigners in South Trenton were parting at half price with bright, new, silver dollars bearing the date of 1879, it has been necessary for some of the banks to announce that these dollars are not counterfeit. The day was raised among the small tradespeople that money of this particular date was so good, and several strangers have been going about collecting them.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering catarrhs and coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—It pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

To you who have sought the utmost in a small four-passenger motor car at a reasonable price, let this car fulfill your desires. We present, at last, the car of values which none can surpass at the same or near the price at which this is offered. This excellent product should be received with such enthusiasm as was the runabout two years ago. Careful examination will bring to light the completeness of the car's details and also its sturdy construction. The heart of this attractive car is none other than the famous 20 h. p. Hupmobile unit power plant with the ability to negotiate steep grades "on high." The chassis is a lengthened edition of that of the runabout with a frame increased in strength to meet the new demands placed upon it. Value is so apparent in this car at $900 that it should not even need the help of this adv. to sell every car we could make. We want you to become acquainted with our representative. Waste no time, secure a satisfying demonstration at the earliest date possible. There has been nothing quite so good since the debut of our first runabout. One of the features of the car is its easy riding qualities and ample leg room is provided for the tallest person. The car is not what could be termed "high powered" for with an excess of power the running expense would increase. It has ample power and can be operated at small expense.
